

MARKET REPORT

December 5th, 2025

Overall produce conditions across Mexico, Central, and South America remain mixed, with improving supplies and quality in many categories despite lingering weather-related challenges and seasonal transitions affecting some regions and items.

ASPARAGUS

Mexico improving; Peru's northern output strong but southern slowing, shifting sizes smaller and standard.

BABY ZUCCHINI

Production continues to improve; weather recovery supporting gradual increase in overall availability.

BLUEBERRIES

Peru stable; Argentina season ending with Chilean harvest expected within two weeks.

CHILIES

East coast expanding, red fresno tight; orange habanero limited due to recent weather.

SNOW PEAS

Guatemalan volumes rebounding; Peru winding down season with low remaining output.

CHINESE EGGPLANT

Production up in Honduras; better weather improving quality and market consistency.
